ABOUT THE HARLEM RENAISSANCE CENTER

The Harlem Renaissance Center (HRC) enables residents to engage themselves and the broader community. Knowing yourself gives you the confidence to achieve academically and socially. Achievement through academics, social interaction, and service are the three base principles of the HRC.

The HRC offers students the unique opportunity to encourage dialogue and interaction between all members of the community. The HRC is a safe space that strives to build a family based community where every student is welcome to live, engage, learn, and feel safe. The community is closely affiliated with the ALANA Cultural Center, the Africana and Latin American Studies Program, and several student organizations.

The Harlem Renaissance Center was established at Colgate University in 1982. The learning center was established with two goals in mind. First, to promote and heighten awareness of black culture on the Colgate campus, and secondly, to increase interracial dialogue in a residential atmosphere in order to generate interaction on the whole campus.

ABOUT SOPHOMORE TOWNHOUSES

The Sophomore Townhouses are a unique living opportunity for second year students to explore residence hall like living on Broad Street. While sophomores will live in the first quad of houses with other second year students, the community also houses junior and senior students.

Sophomores will have the opportunity to explore and affirm their identity through a community living experience. Through the group application process, students decide how they will work together, hold each other accountable for the community living experience, and decide how they will contribute to their group, as well as their Townhouse community.

- Students will continue to develop their identity through a community living experience particularly designed for upperclassmen
- Students will set community expectations as well as hold fellow members accountable for the achievement of group living expectations and behavior affecting the community
- Students will seek opportunities to positively impact the Townhouse living community as well as the greater community beyond

ABOUT THE TOWNHOUSES

The Townhouse community for juniors and seniors is composed of eight 16-person townhouses and six 8-person townhouses. The townhouses provide an opportunity for responsible and independent students to live together and develop their own healthy living community. These communities often consist of a group of students with a common interest or goal who wish to live together to share that interest and work collaboratively toward attaining that common goal.

With amenities such as washers and dryers in each townhouse, a dishwasher, two refrigerators, alcove study space, two bathrooms, and air conditioning, the townhouse life is excellent. Communities interact with other townhouse communities regularly through events and are encouraged to create social and academic gatherings as well.

All sophomores living in the town houses need to be on a meal plan, students living in these communities are required to clean their own bathrooms. Students wishing to apply to the townhouses can do so in groups of eight or sixteen.
