COLGATE RESOURCES:

- Colgate is a member of the Central New York Communications Consortium, providing recruiting events for students who wish to work in the communications industry.
- The Department of Writing and Rhetoric offers courses to position students to become critical language users, preparing them for postgraduate training and eventual careers in publishing, journalism, and other communications media in an increasingly global society.

The Colgate Writing and Speaking Center offers students one-to-one assistance with essays and oral presentations.

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES:

- The Colgate Maroon-News is the oldest collegiate weekly newspaper in the nation. A staff of more than 100 students produce the print and online publications which are distributed around campus, as well as to subscribers across the country.
- Colgate's Blackmore Media Center, a purpose-built 2,350 square-foot space in the O'Connor Campus Center, is home to the student-run radio station WRCU.
- CUTV, an entirely student-run organization, is one of the nation's oldest running college television stations.
- The Colgate International is a magazine that covers a wide range of international topics, from current and historical events, to research and academic work focused on international issues.
