Modernism on the Fringes: Herbert Mayer and the World House Galleries

The works featured in this exhibition, executed by a diverse group of international artists, came to Colgate after Mayer closed the gallery. During its decade of operation World House sought to raise the profile of contemporary artists who worked outside of the United States. Mayer's primary interest as a collector had been modern art in the Euro-American vein, but global outreach informed his vision for the gallery.

Doors open at 9:00 a.m.
This year’s commencement address will be given by Howard Fineman ’70, renowned political reporter, editor, author, and commentator whose pioneering career spans traditional and new media. Formerly the deputy Washington bureau chief at Newsweek, Fineman was one of the first Washington print reporters to write regularly for the web and now serves as editorial director of the Huffington Post Media Group. His work has appeared in The New York Times, The Washington Post and The New Republic and, since 1998, he has been a popular analyst for NBC News and MSNBC. His book, The Thirteen American Arguments, was published by Random House in 2008 and was a national best seller. At Colgate, he was editor-in-chief of the Maroon, graduated Phi Beta Kappa, and received a Watson Fellowship.

Immediately following the ceremony, reception behind Sanford Field House.

Indoor Viewing Facilities (no ticket required)
Due to limited seating in Sanford Field House, we are providing additional seating with closed circuit access to the ceremony at Little Hall, Golden Auditorium (wheelchair accessible). This room will be open at 8:30 a.m. on Sunday, May 15.

Water, coffee, and breakfast pastries will be available for purchase.
