

COLGATE UNIVERSITY

Office of Institutional Analysis

Colgate University students were invited to participate in the HEDS Sexual Assault Campus Climate survey. The survey covered topics relating to personal experiences of sexual violence as well as awareness, prevention, and survivor support. Participation was entirely voluntary, and students had the opportunity to skip any questions they chose. Some of the content of this survey is required by the New York State Enough is Enough Law.

This report includes information that may be difficult for survivors of sexual violence or for those close to them.

Colgate faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to contact Neil Albert, Associate Provost for Institutional Analysis and University Registrar with any requests for additional information from this survey (315-228-7397, nalbert@colgate.edu). All other inquiries should be directed to the Office of Communications (315-228-6395, ddevries@colgate.edu).

After office hours, an on-call counselor is available nights and weekends and can be reached through calling the Counseling Center at (315-228-7385) and selecting prompt #2 from the voicemail. Haven - Colgate's Sexual Violence Response Center located at the Garden Level of Curtis Hall, provides confidential care, support, advocacy, and trauma-informed clinical services for survivors of sexual assault, intimate partner violence, child/family abuse, stalking, and/or harassment, Monday-Friday from 9:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Student Health Services can be reached at 315-228-7750.
